

MESSAGE

Your persistence in coping with all the academic requirements and your determination in overcoming the challenges in your studies have rewarded you with this feat worth celebrating- your graduation from the elementary/ completion from junior high school. The strong support and hardwork of all the school stakeholders, especially your parents, teachers, school heads, benefactors and local government officials have likewise been compensated.

The theme “Sabay-sabay na hakbang sa maunlad na kinabukasan” calls for active collaboration and engagement among the school, family and community to continuously take part in nation building. This can be best achieved by ensuring provision of a complete basic education to every Filipino learner. The Department of Education (DepEd) has levelled-up in taking the lead in educating the youth with the K to 12 Basic Education Program which will produce its first batch of graduates in 2018.

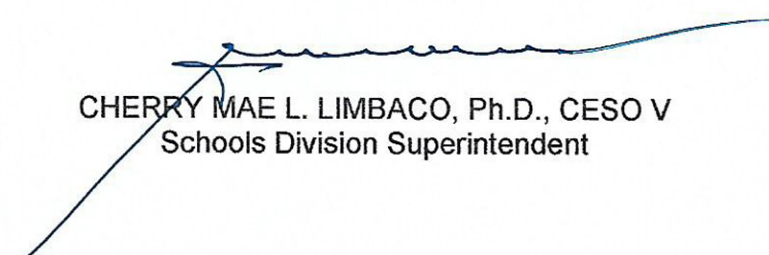

Our dear graduates/completers, you are our nation’s most important asset and relevant education is your ticket to a bright future. This is why DepEd and all the school stakeholders invest so much in education. We keep reaffirming our commitment to work hand in hand as we dedicate our efforts, initiatives and resources for a high-quality and free basic education for all.

May you continue to do your share of equipping yourselves with the skills and competencies aligned with the demands of the 21st century when globalization is the trend and competition is inevitably stiff. With your unwavering diligence, determination, positive attitude and strong faith in God, may you succeed in your journey in making yourself a worthy contribution to a stronger and better Philippines.

Congratulations!

JEAN G. VELOSO
Asst. Schools Division Superintendent

CHERRY MAE L. LIMBACO, Ph.D., CESO V
Schools Division Superintendent