As per communication from the Children & Youth Wellness Technical and Advocacy Center (CYWTAC), you are hereby invited to join the Agapay Year 1 Teachers Training on Basic Career Guidance on November 28-30, 2013 at the Assumption College (Retreat House), Sumulong Highway, Barangay de la Paz, Antipolo City.

For details, interested participants are advised to refer to DepED Advisory No. 355, s. 2013, dated August 14, 2013 or text 09175580180 and 09228670942 or e-mail cywtac_legaspi@yahoo.com.ph.

MISSION:

The CYWTAC aims to address the most important challenges among young people today and those in direct contact with them through educational programs such as trainings and workshops, information advocacy and professional technical assistance such as counseling and psychological interventions, so as to maintain and improve the quality of life. This is possible by integrating comprehensive array of social, health, youth development and personal growth services into the school setting and the community so that children, youth and family can collaborate and empower themselves in the future.

VISION:

CYWTAC envisions of helping and empowering children and youth become caring, self-directed individuals responsible to themselves, their families, and their communities. Such vision will be possible by utilizing competent staff and volunteers to offer educational trainings and information programs both to children, youth, their family and the psychosocial helping professionals working directly with them.

Dear School Administrators:

The Children & Youth Wellness Technical and Advocacy center (CYWTAC), Inc. is a non-government organization committed to bring various psychosocial services to all people of different walks of life including psycho-education programs for children, teens, families and those in direct contact with them (teachers, social workers and other helping professionals). Since 2005, CYWTAC has been delivering psycho-education workshops all over the Philippines and to some ASEAN Countries. Our center introduced new teaching modalities such as Differentiated Classroom Teaching, Therapeutic Teaching and our recent workshop on Brain-Based Education. Additionally, we have been involved in assisting private school teachers and administrators in coming up with Anti-Bullying Programs as guided by the book we launched entitled: "Fight the Bully Battle: Establishing Anti-Bullying Program in Schools". For the past nine (9) years, we quietly worked with so many educators and educational institutions along areas of student wellness and psychological well-being.

Early this year, our center launched our module entitled: "AGAPAY". From the Filipino word "agapay" which means to "assist", we aim to equip teachers with the necessary knowledge and skills in guiding our students in their career decisions. This training module hope to be able to assist our teachers in helping students address the numerous career issues so that they will be able to make wise, skills/interest-based, practical and informed career decisions.

The module is supportive of DepEd's K-12 program goal of improving the chances for youth employment.

In This connection, may we invite teachers and guidance counselors to our 1st AGAPAY National Workshop (TEACHERS TRAINING ON BASIC CAREER GUIDANCE slated on November 28-29-30, 2013 at the Retreat House of Assumption-Antipolo, Sumulong Highway, Antipolo City.

A minimal Registration fee of Three Thousand Pesos (P3,000.00) will be collected to cover the accommodation (dormitory type), meals and training materials from August 1 to September 30, 2013. The other payment scheme below will apply:
